Independents Return to Trade in Kyneton Victoria

It has been many years since the old Arthur Hayes run family business closed in Kyneton. Now a new era has dawned with the new Greg Edwards (IGA Macedon) owned IGA opened for business.

Opened just before Christmas the store has traded strongly and the locals have welcomed an alternative to the chain dominated town.

The store has been designed by IGA's Peter Shaw in the modern new look that has been used in several of the larger IGA stores over recent years. Its modern lines coupled with an old brick feature wall showing the heritage of the old town Kyneton gives the store great appeal.

With all the required departments to make this a one stop shop, this unit is another fine example of what independents can do when they have a vision and a great plan.
